TREASURE ROOM LOOTED

dore Fred, G. Bourne on Long Island. NEW YORK, August 20.—It became known to-night that jewels valued at NEW YORK. August 20.—It became known to-night that jewels valued at more than $50,00, have been stolen from a secret treasure room in the mansion of Commodore Frederick G. Bourne, at Oakdale, L. I. The treasure-room was built when the mansion was erected, and its existence was known only to the family. The jewels were those worn by Commodore Bourne's three daughters, the Misses Marion, Marjoric and Florence, at brilliant society functions.

Following the departure of the family for a trip to Dark Island, on the St. Lawrence River, workmen were employed to make repairs on the house, and detectives believe that in this way the treasure-room was discovered.

Just when the robbery took place is not known, as the Bourne family did not visit the country place for some time. Not long ago burgiars attempted a raid on the Bourne country place, but they were driven away by the watchman after many shots had been fired. Miss Bourne and some guests attending a house party in the mansion were terrified by the shooting.

An effort had been made to keep the robbery secret, but news of it leaked out to-night.

HUNDRED THOUSAND MARK ALREADY PASSED

Nicholas Drake Increases His Lead in Times-Dispatch Pony and Cart Contest--Sharp Fight for First Honors---Many Changes Being Made in the Vote.

Passing the 100,000 mark with a whoop, Nicholas Drake still leads in the Pony and cart Contest by 12,716 sol. Cutchin, Jr. votes over his chief competitor, little your stands well above the 90,000 mark. These two have drawn well to the head of the race, with interest all over town and outside of town increasing every day. Four others are throwing in their votes by the thousands, and while not right up in the leading class are competitors who are by no means out of the contest. These are Kenneth Goode, Herbert Smith, James Pleasants Massle and Helen Noite. Kenneth Goode is standing easily in third place, with more than 49,000 votes to his credit. Young Goode polied nearly 6,000 ballots yesterday.

While the pony given as first prize is the desire of every contestant, there are a number of other prizes, and for these it is anybody's race as yet.
